Quick Recap

Present Simple Affirmative — from last night

Subject	Verb	Example sentence
I	live	I live in Panama City.
You	have	You have a sister.
He	lives	He lives in an apartment.
She	has	She has a cat.
We	live	We live with our family.
They	have	They have two children.

SECTION 1

Possessive Adjectives

Whose is it? My, your, his, her...

Possessive Adjectives

They tell us who owns something — depende de quién es el dueño, no del objeto.

Pronoun	Possessive	Example
I	my	This is my house.
You	your	This is your apartment.
He	his	This is his kitchen.
She	her	This is her bedroom.
It	its	The house has its own garden.
We	our	This is our living room.
They	their	This is their village.

⚠ "His/her" depends on the OWNER's gender, not the object's — "his apartment" and "her apartment" can both describe the exact same kind of place.

SECTION 2

Home Vocabulary

Places and rooms — lugares y habitaciones.

Home Vocabulary

house

casa

apartment

apartamento

city

ciudad

village

Verb: LIVE — vivir

SECTION 3

IN / ON / AT

Three small words — BIG difference!

Prepositions of Place

IN

Inside something

"en" — dentro de algo

- I live IN Panama City.
- She is IN the kitchen.
- We are IN class.

IN a city / IN a room

ON

On a surface

"en/sobre" — encima de algo

- The book is ON the table.
- We live ON the 3rd floor.
- ON the street.

ON a floor / ON a surface

A specific point

"en" — lugar específico

- I am AT work.
- She is AT school.
- We meet AT Niko's.

AT home / AT the airport

IN vs. AT: A Closer Look

The one that confuses everyone — here's the difference.

IN

A broad area — a city, a country, a room

"I live IN Panama City."

(the whole city — a broad area)

A precise point — work, school, a named place

"I am AT work." "We meet AT Niko's."

(one exact place, not a whole area)

✈ Same rule with "arrive": arrive IN a city/country ("I arrived IN Panama City") — arrive AT a specific point ("I arrived AT the airport").
